I felt like this deserved its own section since it seems an important part of the game especially in the first fragment.

Method that these things are accessed.

This anomalies are accessed from a menu that is designed like a huge like a huge 50s era computer with monitors dedicated to each anomaly. The monitors and their associated controls were varied and almost never the same. When accessing them the animations were rather fancy with most of them using associated manual controls(buttons levers etc) to activate the anomalies' monitor. They are pretty much numbered like 00, 01, 02, 03, 04, 05 etc. This seemed like a pretty novel concept for a "mission select" and i remember others liking it too.

The anomalies i accessed and what they did(guessing their numbers)
